

FOUNDANT
technologies

JH Edmondson Foundation

Client Case Study

About JH Edmondson

The Joseph Henry Edmondson Foundation provides funding for nonprofit organizations in the Pikes Peak Region of Colorado serving to support:

- The welfare of children, the incapacitated, homeless, families, and the elderly
- The preservation and improvement of the environment and natural resources
- Arts
- Education
- Healthcare
- Community Improvements
- Charitable Outreach

Advantages of GLM

- Intuitive, easy-to-use system for both staff and grantees
- Seamless transition from previous grants management system
- Excellent customer service
- System streamlines the process for grantees

Previous Grant Process

Our previous grant management system was never intuitive. We were constantly battling with it, resulting in much more work for everyone.

We were also required to pay for annual upgrades—whether we used them or not. This wasted both valuable time and valuable resources.

Foundant GLM Implementation

The transition to Foundant GLM was seamless; during the migration from our previous system, none of our data was lost or misaligned, and we felt confident in Foundant's experience with this type of transition. Further, it uncovered redundancies, allowing for us to "clean up" all of our e-files.

The online platform also streamlined the grants management process for our grantees—who, in essence, are our "customers." We try to make the application process as simple as possible, and the GLM system plays a key role in our ability to do so.

Why Foundant?

We first heard about Foundant GLM through the Exponent Philanthropy (EP) staff and then followed up with those in the EP network who were using the platform at that time. From the beginning, the system came highly recommended from the colleagues with whom we spoke.

We chose Foundant because of its ability to streamline our granting process and the intuitive nature of the system. It is user friendly for our grantees as well.

Finally, the Foundant team provides excellent customer service, and I really enjoy the time I have spent meeting with the staff members. They are responsive, personable, experienced, and interesting professionals.